Lice are showing up on cattle. Good results can be achieved with dust bags if cattle are forced to use them. There are four dust materials that can be used - 3% Clodrin, 1% Co-Ral, 5% Malathion, and 3% Rabon.

Spraying is probably the most effective if enough pressure is used to penetrate the dense hair coat. Spray during middle of day when temperature is 50° or above. Malathion or Korlon are recommended.

• • •

It's time to get fruit trees pruned, sprayed with an oil spray and treat soil with a herbicide to control weeds.

The Dark Tobacco Market closed with 5.8 million pounds and sold for an average of $81.57. This compares with 5.6 million pounds at $75.86 last year.

The Cooperative received 261,926 pounds or 4.5 percent of gross sales. Compared with 940 pounds placed under government loans in 1974.

• • •

In 1975 which will you plant: corn or soybeans? There isn't any easy answer. It costs more to plant corn, but the yield is greater, however beans usually sell for more $ per bushel.

If you have an average situation that would yield 82 bushels of corn and 26 bushels of soybeans, what will be the prices at selling time? Let's suppose that corn will bring $3, then for soybeans to break even you would need to get $8.45 for the beans. If you expect corn to sell for $2.00 then beans would have to bring $3.86 for an equal return.

You'll need to examine future markets and make your guess on corn and soybean prices this fall before deciding which way to go.

• • •

There is a growing interest in using the large hay packages. One word of caution: it takes more hay when the large packages are used. Some reports show as much as 38% greater loss with large hay packages when a self-feeding rack is not used.

• • •

There were an estimated 1.75 million head of cattle and calves on Virginia farms January 1. This is 9% above a year earlier. Cow numbers are up 2%.

Nationally cattle numbers are up 3 per cent and cows up 4 per cent. This is the eighth consecutive year that numbers have shown an increase from the preceding year.

Three states Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri accounted for 23 per cent of all calves born in 1974.

• • •

A number of tobacco growers are planning to gas plant beds this spring. Remember air temperature should be 55°F or higher for a good job and soil moisture should be right for cultivation.

Plants grow faster under plastic and nylon covers than under cotton.

When nylon covers are used delay seeding until March 1, if plastic is used delay seeding until March 15.

William Albert Harvey, standing, front, was awarded production certificate here Monday night as the top producer of dark-fired tobacco in a seven-county area. Standing just behind Harvey was T. B. Hall, Jr., General Manager, Virginia Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Marketing Association, who was master of ceremonies at the Recognition Awards Banquet; and standing in back of Hall was Bobbie H. Gowin of Toga, second top producer in the contest.

Dark-Fired Tobacco Growers Recognition Awards Banquet Held

Twenty-four growers of dark fired tobacco from a seven county area received production certificates here Monday at a special awards gathering at the Appomattox County High School.

James A. Smith, Extension agent, Appomattox County, said the awards recognized those growers with yields of 2,000 pounds per acre or greater. Historically, yields for this type tobacco hovered around the 1,200 to 1,300 pounds per acre range, he explained.

Top producer in the contest was William Albert Harvey of Appomattox County with a yield of 2,809 pounds per acre, followed closely by Bobbie H. Gowin, Toga in Buckingham County, with a yield of 2,507 pounds per acre.

Principal speaker for the event was P. Howard Massey, associate dean, College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Virginia Tech. Master of ceremonies was Tom Hall, general manager of the Virginia Dark Fired Growers Marketing Association.

Three special awards were made during the event. Merklin Pugh of Charlotte County received a recognition plaque for 28 years of service of the dark fired industry. John Steck of the Farmville Herald was recognized for his outstanding coverage of the dark fired tobacco industry. Robert G. Henderson, retired researcher at the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, was recognized for his contributions in research.

Sponsors of the event were the Virginia Cooperative Extension Service, the Virginia Dark Fired Tobacco Commission and the Fired Tobacco Marketing Association. Counties with contest included Appomattox, Buckingham, Lottie, Lunenburg and Prince Edward.
